lde all wrapped in wretchydnes y pompes so gay & gloryous ealures and all thy ryches y be but transytory ous to moche pyteous e that eche man whylom dred y naturall lyne and cours s alas lyeth dede

ryall a kynge anet the prudent salamon lle and in euery thynge no cry Jen regyon not longe agone his name by fame spred te now we destytute alone
s alas lyeth dede

ater we wretchyd creatures es and tryumphaunt maiestye pastymes and pleasures thouten remedye wyll the myserable bodye n heuy lede lde but vanyte and all vanytye h alas alas lyeth dede is subgectes & make lamentacyon. noble a gouernoure ayers make we exclamacyon de to his supernall toure dly rose floure ally all aboute spred ated where is his power las alas lyeth dede

Of this moost cryſten kynge in vs it lyeth not His tyme paſſed honour ſuffycyent to prayſe But yet though that / that thyng envalue we may not Our prayers of ſuertye he ſhall haue alwayes And though that atropoſe hathe ended his dayes His name and fame ſhall euer be dred As fer as phebus ſpredes his golden rayes Though henry the ſeuenth alas alas lyeth dede

But now we what remedye he is vncouerable Touchyd by the handes of god that is moost Juſt But yet agayne a cauſe moost confortable We haue / wherin / of ryght reioys we muſt His ſone on lyue in beaute force and luſt In honour lykely traianus to ſhede Wherfore in hym put we our hope and truſt Syth henry his fader alas alas lyeth dede

And now we for concluſyon aboute his herſe Let this be grauyd for endeles memorye With ſoro wfull tunes of Theſyphenes verſe Here lyeth the puyſſaunt and myghty henry Hector in batayll / Ulyxes in polecy Salamon in wyſdome the noble roſe rede Creſes in rycheſſe Julyus in glory Henry the ſeuenth ingraued here lyeth dede
